Dear Sir:

In answer to your post card of November 11, we regret that Archer's "History of Radio to 1926" is out of print. The sequel to that book by the same author entitled "Big Business and Radio" is available at $4.00 per copy and we shall gladly fill your order for it if you are interested.

Very truly yours,

HISTORY OF RADIO TO 1926 GLEASON L. ARCHER

$4.00

MR. FRANK A. ARNOLD, Author, Radio Consultant and for six years Director of Development of National Broadcasting Company, Inc., says of this book:

"In writing 'History of Radio' the author has accomplished the almost impossible feat of combining historical accuracy with reader interest. Narrative style is used throughout.

"Important dates, previously in dispute, are established with historical accuracy. Valuable material, never before printed, taken from personal and departmental files, is made public for the first time. The result is a complete and most unique story.

"In the concluding chapters will be found the most accurate record of the early days of radio broadcasting that has been written. Without prejudice, the author has given credit where credit is due, confirming his statements by indisputable proof.

"'History of Radio' is a book of universal appeal. It should be in every public library, on the shelf of every radio engineer, and in the homes of all those who appreciate broadcasting and would like to know more about it."
